SABOTEURS DESTROY FRONTIER BRIDGES

Train Service Is Disrupted; Death Toll Reaches
Eleven

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS
JERUSALEM, Tuesday, June 18 (AP)—Workshops in the Haifa railway yards were damaged extensively by fire and explosion last night during attacks in which two saboteurs were reported killed, bringing to eleven the death toll in Palestine's two-night wave of terrorism and violence.

There were fifteen explosions during the one-hour attack on the Palestine railway's facilities in the port city. Defenders of the yards finally beat off the armed raiders, although fire fighting and pursuit of the attackers was difficult as all roads leading to the workshops had been mined heavily.

British Officer Is Killed

Prior to the attack in Haifa, the government announced in an official communique that six Jews had been killed in previous sabotage attacks which severed all of Palestine's frontier bridges. One British officer was killed while dismantling a mine placed under one bridge, while two British soldiers were injured fatally in a clash between troops and Arabs.

Jewish morning newspapers, however, said only two Jews had lost their lives.

As British troops deployed throughout Palestine in an effort to round up the terrorists, Hagana, an illegal Jewish organization, distributed leaflets in Tel Aviv asserting it was responsible for Sunday night's outbreak of sabotage.

The Palestine government announced that all train service between Palestine, Syria and Transjordan had been halted by the destruction of the railway bridge over Yarmuk gorge. Another span wrecked was the famous Allenby bridge over the River Jordan, chief link between Palestine and Transjordan.

Many Are Arrested

The British army said that sixty-two men—the entire male population of the village of Beth Haavara on the Dead Sea—as well as twelve other men and two women suspected of being saboteurs, were under arrest in connection with the destruction of the highway and rail bridges. One of the women was suffering a bullet wound in the chest.

Police dogs, allowed first to prowl the bridge wreckage and then to the village. The soldiers arrested all men to leave the village confines.
The village leader refused, and as the soldiers marched into the place, the inhabitants—men and women—linked arms and barred the way until the troops removed the men at bayonet point.

One policeman suffered minor wounds when a police party was fired upon at Kluener, near the Transjordan frontier.

Keenan Says Tojo Sought To Bargain

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)— Saburo Kurosu, the Japanese "peace" envoy of Pearl Harbor days, claims to have offered to Washington an offer to prevent war in the Pacific at the price of three United States concessions, Joseph B. Keenan said today.

Keenan, chief prosecutor of Japanese war criminals, told a news conference that Kurosu advised him of instructions to offer the deal came from Hideki Tojo, Japan's wartime premier, just before Kurosu came here late in 1941.

The three things Tojo wanted and said could avert war, Keenan said he was told, were:

Unfreezing of Japanese assets by the United States, shipments of high octane gasoline to Japan "in quantities desired," and an embargo on gasoline shipments to then-beleagued China.

"In return for these concessions," Kurosu told Keenan, "the (Japanese) cabinet would remove Japanese troops from Indo-China, a focal point of dispute between the two governments."

"But after he reached Washington, the cabinet changed the rules and said it would just withdraw troops 'from the south.'"

Keenan did not say whether these proposals ever were presented to American officials.

Justice Jackson Plans To Return Home Next Month

Jurist Hints He Might Discuss Court Controversy with Truman

By TOM REEDY
NUERNBERG, June 17 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Robert H.
Jackson disclosed today he would return to the United States after July 15 when his work as chief United States prosecutor in the Nazi war crimes trial is over, and hinted that he might discuss the explosive supreme court controversy directly with President Truman.

Senate Group Adopts "Hands Off" Attitude

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee adopted a "hands off" attitude today toward the controversy between Supreme
and Hugo L. Black.

Gov. Horace Hildreth Wins in Maine Primary

PORTLAND, Me., June 17 (AP)— Roy L. Fernald, Winterport, trailing by four to one in his fourth bid for the Maine Republican gubernartural nomination, tonight conceded his defeat by Gov. Horace A. Hil-dred.

Mrs. Quisling Pleads Innocent to Charges

OSLO, Norway, June 17 (AP)—Mrs.
Maria Quisling, 46, widow of the Norwegian traitor, Vidkun Quisling, pleaded innocent today to charges of collaboration with Nazi occupation authorities.

Investigation of Construction Industry Trade Practices Begins

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark disclosed today that a nationwide investigation of construction industry trade practices which he said are delaying the building of new homes is under way.

The inquiry is the one-hundred and sixty seventh being conducted by the Justice department's antitrust division in a variety of fields, including food, fuel, transportation, banking and electrical equipment.

Clark told a reporter. The FBI handles anti-trust investigations.

Clark said the housing investigation is the first step "in a total war by the government on those forces which jeopardize full production, full employment and full housing."

"The investigation also encompasses reported abuses in allied fields, including mortgage interest rates, and reports of black market dealings in lumber."

Clark's disclosure coincided with a statement by Housing Administrator Wilson W. Wyatt that small home construction is under way "at a relatively terrific rate."

Wyatt told reporters after a White House call that the shortage is so great that the public has difficulty in recognizing the accomplishments.

Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berg, who heads the anti-trust division, said "the financing of housing construction has been made difficult also by excessively high interest rates," and added:

Draft Conferees Are Deadlocked Over Teen-Agers

House and Senate Group
Agrees to Nine-Month
Extension of Act

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)— Conferees for both House and Senate made compromise offers today which would subject 18-year-olds to the draft, but the hot question of taking youths of 18 still tied in the whole fate of Selective Service.

These were the alternatives offered:

1. A House offer to take 18-year-olds and exempt 18-year-olds. Senate conferees rejected this 4 to 3.

2. A Senate offer to delay the draft of 18-year-olds until all 19-year-olds had been taken and until President Truman certified it was necessary. House conferees rejected this 4 to 3.

Unless somebody backs down, there is a possibility that the entire draft act will expire July 1.

The Senate's version of the draft extension bill would take youths of both 18 and 19, while that of the House would exempt both.

"It's just a matter of one conferee on either the House or Senate side changing his mind," Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), of the Senate Military committee, told reporters after two hour sessions both forenoon and afternoon had failed to break the deadlock.

Under conference rules each side has only one vote and this is determined by a majority of the senators and representatives on the committee. Thus a change by one senator or representative could swing the conference agreement.

The conferees did agree on a nine-month extension of the draft beginning July 1. That is forty-five days less than the army asked.

Thomas said the conferees will meet again Thursday forenoon for another try at a compromise.

Elgin Criticizes Election Spending

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—
"Reckless spending" in Maryland's primary campaign which will be decided at the polls next Monday was criticized today by a Democratic faction that accused a rival camp of trying to "merchandise" its gubernatorial candidacy.

W. Lee Elgin, campaign manager for J. Millard Tawes, asserted that the camp of William Preston Lane, Jr., had called in advertising specialists to promote Lane's candidacy in the election. Sen. Tydings (D-Md.) said today that a qualification for the governorship should be experience in state government.

"Certainly if we make our selection on this basis rather than on the low plane of self-serving political propaganda, J. Millard Tawes has every right to expect our support," Tydings declared.

Flash Fire in Hotel Kills One, Injures Nine

GARY, Ind., June 17 (AP)—One man was killed and nine others were injured this afternoon when a flash fire raced through the fifty-two-room Imperial hotel in downtown Gary.

The dead man was not identified immediately.

Seven persons were rescued from the top floor of the three-story structure by firemen using ladders.
Only eighteen persons were reported in the building at the time the fire started.

Tribunals Will Settle Disputed Claims in Italy

Foreign Ministers Give Italy Equal Voice in Settlements

By JOSEPH DYNAN
PARIS, June 17 (AP)—The four-power foreign ministers council today gave Italy an equal voice in settling war damage claims arising out of military action on Italian soil by providing for the establishment of multi-national mixed claims tribunals.

An American informant, in announcing this action, said the council settled a number of economic issues for the projected peace treaty with Italy, but had postponed until tomorrow discussion of the kno-tly Italian reparations question.

Other Accords Are Reached
The American, British, French and Russian foreign ministers also agreed on a United States proposal to use Italian property held by Allied nations in satisfying claims by each country's nationals against Italy. At the same time, the ministers adopted a clause binding Italy to renounce any claims for damages against Allied nationals arising from the war.

In discussing the procedure for settling disputed claims in Italy, United States Secretary of State
James F. Byrnes supported a French proposal that mixed tribunals be set up consisting of one person named by Italy, one by the Allied country concerned, and a third person to be named by the first two.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, according to American sources, said Britain favored this procedure.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov said he had opposed any clause binding Italy to renounce war claims against Allied nationals because the Soviet Union thought this would be taken for granted.
American informants said.

Molotov Gives In
But, Molotov added, in view of the importance Britain, the United States and France placed on such a formal renunciation, he would agree.

Byrnes insisted on extending the scope of war losses under this clause to losses Italy suffered under the American "freeze" and other economic measures before the United States entered the war. Molotov agreed.

The ministers also discussed general economic clauses granting all Allied nations a most-favored-nation status for at least eighteen months after signature of the treaty. A question arose as to whether nationalized industries would be subject to such equality of treatment.

U. S. Will Get Less Meat, Fewer Eggs

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)— Housewives were confronted tonight with higher prices for butter, cheese and evaporated milk and prospects of slightly smaller supplies of meat, poultry, eggs, wheat products and dried fruits.

The higher prices were set by OPA, following earlier increases on milk, bread and other food.

The shorter supplies of other items during the next twelve months were forecast in a report by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

It said, however, that canned fruits and vegetables will be more plentiful than during the year ending June 30. Supplies of other foods will be about the same.

The price increases are eleven cents a pound for butter, six cents for cheddar cheese and one cent on a fourteen and one-half-ounce can of evaporated milk.

The retail increases go into effect OPA announced, with first sales by dealers who have paid more for their supplies. Manufacturers were authorized to begin charging higher

OPA also set ceilings for the first time on bulk cream and on milk sold for manufacturing purposes.
These actions are designed to stimulate production of butter and OPA officials doubted that either these moves or the price increase for butter will put more on the table very soon.

They said the possibility of removal of price ceilings on butter and other dairy products July 1 gives producers a big incentive for withholding supplies from the market. The Senate has voted to eliminate these ceilings.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 17 (AP)— (via Canadian Press)—Union employees at the Chrysler Corporation plant here and in Chatham, Ont., voted at mass meetings tonight to strike at 7 a. m. Tuesday.

Last-minute negotiations this afternoon failed to avert the walkout caused by the company's rejection of demands of the CIO United Auto

FREAK TORNADO LEAVES TWISTED WRECKAGE

Security Council Again Adjourns without Vote On Case of Franco Spain

Ex-Cowpuncher Plans
To Push Wheelbarrow

SEATTLE, June 17 (AP)—Larry Hightower, 46, ex-Montana cowpuncher, said today he would start pushing a wheelbarrow around the world, leaving Ellensburg, Wash., for Seattle on the Fourth of July.

Poet and veteran of the First World War, he plans to circle the globe in twelve years, and says a calendar picture of a man pushing a barrow inspired him to attempt the feat. He plans to walk and push 20,000 miles—even giving his feet and his barrow a daily workout on ocean-going ships.

After two and one-half hours of debate, the council adjourned until 3 p. m. EDT tomorrow without a vote. The new chairman, Dr.
Francisco Castillo Nafarro, of Mexico, said some of the delegates had another engagement that made adjournment necessary as United States Delegate Herschel V. Johnson was asking to be heard.

The session was highlighted by a personal appeal from the Australian delegate, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, to Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko to go along with the majority "in the interest of democratic principles."

Gromyko last week had attacked the subcommittee recommendations for a break with Franco Spain if Generalissimo Franco still is in power in September. He said it was not along with the majority "in the interest of democratic principles."

Debate started when Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain, called on the council to pass along to the General Assembly the resolution pending in the council but without any recommendation for a break with Spain.

After Australia went on record against such a step, Alexandre Parodi, French delegate, attacked the British move as "not sound." This recommendation envisioned a break with Generalissimo Francisco Franco if he still is in power in September. However, the subcommittee last week had accepted a compromise leaving it to the General Assembly to ask such action it thinks best.

Lane Declares He Is Confident His Ticket Will Win in Primary

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—Asserting that he "has tried to conduct this campaign on a high plane," W.
Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic candidate for the governorship, said today he was confident of victory for his ticket in next Monday's primary.

The Lane slate includes James
J. Lacy for comptroller and Hall
Hammond for attorney general.

"Everyone loves a good fight in an election," Lane said, but he deplored what he termed an effort on the part of his opposition "to lower the level of this contest."

He added, "Democratic organization forces in Howard, Carroll, Cecil and Kent counties have endorsed our ticket, and so have two of the three contending groups in Baltimore county. We believe the votes of all these counties will give us their convention votes."

"With the votes that are assured to our ticket from Western Maryland, and from other parts of the state, together with at least four of

Tornado Plunges Canadian City Into Darkness

and Stores Wrecked,
No Communications

By KEN GREGORY
WINDSOR, Ont., June 17 (AP)— Death rode out of the skies today to strike a bewildered populace in this Southwestern Canadian border city. Homes were leveled. Stores were wrecked. Lights went out and telephone lines snapped. Windsor gave all appearances of a ghost city.

I drove through the streets of Windsor, to its hospitals, and to its police station and newspaper. It was dark, raining and flashes of lightning sparked the skies.

In the darkness the grim task of caring for the injured, searching for the missing and dead and looking out for the homeless went forward.

"There was no quick way of telling exactly how many were killed or how many were injured. There we were told they had numbers varying from a dozen to three dozen or more.
No one seemed to know the exact count.

It was first thought River Rouge bore the brunt. We drove there first. A housing project was flattened in one spot. Downtown, a frame church was flattened. And there were a half dozen stores on the main street that fell under the impact of the wind. People moved about trying to save their bedclothes and belongings.

Then came word that this Southwestern Canadian city of some 25,000 in the province of Ontario had been hit hard. We swung immediately over here across the Ambassador bridge. The city could not be seen.
It was in total darkness. The rain was falling.

New Move To Curb Unions Develops

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—A new move to put legislative curbs on unions developed in Congress today when the Senate Judiciary committee brushed six months of accumulated dust off the Hobbs "anti-racketeering" bill and voted to send it to the Senate floor.

The measure had lain in a committee pigeon-hole since last December when it was passed by the House.

Sponsored by Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala.), it would make it an offense under federal law to interfere by "robbery or extortion" or by threats of violence with movement of goods in interstate commerce. Violations would be punishable by fines up to $10,000 and by imprisonment up to twenty years.

Backers of the bill have said it is aimed primarily at some unions which take the position that anyone bringing produce to a union-organized market must pay for a union driver, whether or not a driver actually is employed.

One provision of the broader Case strike control bill, which President Truman vetoed, contained language similar to the Hobbs bill. In his veto message, Mr. Truman approved the objectives of that provision but criticized its wording. He said it should be made clear that it does not "make it a felony to strike and
legitimate and peaceful concerted

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.), announcing the committee action, said only that approval was "not unanimous" and that the vote was "not
of record."

Many More Are Believed Dead; More than 100 Suffer Injuries

Rouge, Mich., and Sandwich, Ont.

HOUSES ARE LIFTED FROM FOUNDATIONS

Bodies Are Carried Away
by Gale; Property Dam-

least twenty persons were known dead and many more believed killed tonight when a spring tornado dipped into sections of Canada and Southern Michigan.

More than 100 were injured, many critically.

Property damage was estimated in the hundreds of thousands.

The rolling, devastating wind ripped into River Rouge, six miles from downtown Detroit, and then smashed across the Detroit river into Sandwich, on the outskirts of Windsor.

Waterspouts were raised on the Detroit river as the tornado zoomed to the Canadian side, but coast guardmen said there were no reports of boats in distress.

The little community of Sandwich apparently was hardest hit by the fury of the winds. The Canadian press at Windsor said "at least fifteen persons were known dead and probably many more" lost their lives there as the wind flattened an area 100-feet wide.

Spectators told of freight cars tossed about like playthings, houses lifted from their foundations, and even bodies being carried away by the wind.

Ford Plant Escapes
Although the center of the havoc was only a few miles from the mammoth Ford Motor Company's Rouge plant, apparently this suffered no serious damage.

Strangely enough the other portions of sprawling Detroit with its more than 1,500,000 population suffered little. The wind was not heavy and the only damage was caused by heavy rain.

Electric power and telephone lines on the Canadian side were particularly hard hit and officials turned many other power lines off as a precautionary measure because of the danger of falling wires.

Hospitals on the Canadian side were hard pressed as the power curtailment came as many injured were being rushed into the hospitals by first aid workers.

The Canadian press said at 9:30 p. m. (EST) that nine bodies already had been taken to the Windsor morgue and that many other bodies had been carried away by the wind.

On the American side, the River Rouge Community, many of whose residents work in the huge Ford plant, was sorely beset. The Fisher housing project bore a considerable brunt of the storm as police

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS
JERUSALEM, Tuesday, June 18

by fire and explosion last night dur-

were reported killed, bringing to

fire fighting and pursuit of the at-
leading to the workshops had been
mined heavily.

British Officer Is Killed
Prior to the attack in Haifa, the
government announced in an official communique that six Jews had been killed in previous sabotage attacks which severed all of Pal-
officer was killed while dismantling
a mine placed under one bridge,
while two British soldiers were injured fatally in a clash between
troops and Arabs.

Jewish morning newspapers, however, said only two Jews had lost their lives.
As British troops deployed throughout Palestine in an effort to round up the terrorists, Hagahana, an illegal Jewish organization, distributed leaflets in Tel Aviv asserting
it was responsible for Sunday night's outbreak of sabotage.

The Palestine government an-
tween Palestine, Syria and Trans-
jordan had been halted by the destruction of the railway bridge over Yarmuk gorge. Another span wrecked
was the famous Allenby bridge
over the River Jordan, chief link between Palestine and Transjordan.

Many Are Arrested
The British army said that sixty-
two men—the entire male population of the village of Beth Haavara
on the Dead Sea—as well as twelve other men and two women suspects were under arrest in connection with the destruction of the highway and rail bridges. One of the women was suffering a bullet wound in the chest.

Police dogs, allowed first to prowl in the bridge wreckage, led troops to the village. The soldiers ordered all men to leave the village confines.
The village leader refused, and as the
inhabitants—men and women—linked arms and barred the way until
the troops removed the men at bayonet point.

One policeman suffered minor
fired upon at Kinneret, near the Transjordan frontier.

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—
Saburo Kurosu, the Japanese "peace"
envoy of Pearl Harbor days, claims to have brought to Washington an offer to prevent war in the Pacific
at the price of three United States concessions, Joseph B. Keenan said
today.

Keenan, chief prosecutor of Japanese war criminals, told a news conference that Kurosu advised him the instructions to offer the deal came from Hideki Tojo, Japan's wartime premier, just before Kurosu
came here late in 1941.

The three things Tojo wanted
and said could avert war, Keenan
Unfreezing of Japanese assets by
the United States, shipments of
quantities desired," and an embargo on gasoline shipments to then-beneighted China.

Kurosu told Keenan, the (Japanese) cabinet would remove Japanese troops from Indo-China, a focal point of dispute between the two governments.

"But after he reached Washington, the cabinet changed the rules
and said it would just withdraw
troops from the south."

Keenan did not say whether these
proposals ever were presented to American officials.

Justice Jackson Plans To Return Home Next Month

cuss Court Controversy
with Truman

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—
Supreme Court Justice Robert H.
Jackson disclosed today he would return to the United States after July 15 when his work as chief
United States prosecutor in the Nazi
war crimes trial is over, and hinted he might discuss the explosive
with President Truman.

Jackson declined in an interview to offer any further comment on his controversy with his associate in the supreme court, Justice Hugo L. Black. Friends of Jackson here said he has made public all he intends to say upon that subject.
However, Justice Jackson noted in the interview that his job here was a presidential assignment, indicating he would report directly to the president on his return.
Jackson made it clear that he is not resigning his post as prosecutor here, but that after July 15 the cases against the Nazi defendants will be handled by the international military tribunal's attention then will be focused on Nazi organizations such as the SS, the German general staff and the Hitler Youth, he said.

Senate Group Adopts "Hands Off" Attitude

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee adopted
a "hands off" attitude today toward
and Hugo L. Black.

mittee already has taken much of

Roy L. Fernald, Winterport, trailing
by four to one in his fourth bid for the Maine gubernatorial governmental nomination, tonight conceded his defeat by Gov. Horace A. Hildreth.

Fernald acknowledged his defeat when unofficially tabulated returns from 300 of the state's 619 precincts showed Hildreth had 17,974 votes and Fernald 4,609.

In the Democratic gubernatorial contest, the same number of precincts gave F. Davis Clark, Mill 1,375 to 926 for State Sen. Leland B. Currier, Lewiston.

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark disclosed
today that a nationwide investigation of construction industry trade practices which he said are delaying new homes is under way.

The inquiry is the one-hundred
and sixty seventh being conducted by the Justice department's anti-
trust division in a variety of fields,
including food, fuel, transportation,
banking and electrical equipment.

Clark said a report by the FBI handles anti-trust investigations.
The investigation also encompasses reported abuses in allied
fields, including mortgage interest rates, and reports of black market
dealings in lumber.

Draft Conferees Are Deadlocked Over Teen-Agers

Agrees to Nine-Month

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)— Conferees for both House and Senate made compromise offers today
which would subject 19-year-olds to
taking youths of 18 still tied in knots the whole fate of Selective Service.

These were the alternatives offered:
1. A House offer to take 19-year-olds and exempt 18-year-olds. Senate conferees rejected this 4 to 3.
2. A Senate offer to delay the draft of 18-year-olds until all 19-
year-olds had been taken and until President Truman certified it was necessary. House conferees rejected this 4 to 3.

Unless somebody backs down,
there is a possibility that the entire draft act will expire July 1.
The Senate's version of the draft
extension bill would take youths
of both 18 and 19, while that of the House would exempt both.

"It's just a matter of one con-
feree on either the House or Senate side changing his mind," Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), of
the Senate Military committee, told
reporters after two hour sessions
both forenoon and afternoon had
failed to break the deadlock.

has only one vote and this is determined by a majority of the senators and representatives on the committee. Thus a change by one senator or representative could
swing the conference agreement.

The conferees did agree on a nine-month extension of the draft beyond July 1. That is forty-five days less than the army asked.

Thomas said the conferees will
meet again Thursday forenoon for
another try at a compromise.

Mrs. Quisling Pleads Innocent to Charges

OSLO, Norway, June 17 (AP)—Mrs.
Maria Quisling, 46, widow of the Norwegian traitor, Vidkun Quisling,
pleaded innocent today to charges
of collaboration with Nazi occupation authorities.

Mrs. Quisling also pleaded innocent to charges of being a member of the Norwegian Nazi party, taking funiture and silver belonging to the royal family and inducing her husband to use about $300,000 of government funds for his estate.

Her husband was convicted of treason and executed by a firing squad on October 24, 1945.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 17 (AP)— In a prepared speech supporting the candidacy of J. Millard Tawes for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Sen. Tydings (D-Md.) said today that a qualification for
the governorship should be experience in state government.

"Certainly if we make our selec-
low plane of self-serving political
propaganda, J. Millard Tawes has
every right to expect our support," Tydings declared.

Flash Fire in Hotel Kills One, Injures Nine

GARY, Ind., June 17 (AP)—One
man was killed and nine others
were injured this afternoon when a
flash fire raced through the fifty-two-room Imperial hotel in downtown Gary.

The dead man was not identified
immediately.
the top floor of the three-story
structure by firemen using ladders.
Only eighteen persons were reported

Tribunals Will Settle Disputed Claims in Italy

Foreign Ministers Give
Italy Equal Voice in Settlements

By JOSEPH DYNAN
PARIS, June 17 (AP)—The four-
power foreign ministers council to-
settling war damage claims arising out of military action on Italian soil by providing for the establishment of multi-national mixed claims tribunals.

An American informant, in announcing this action, said the council settled a number of economic issues for the projected peace treaty
with Italy, but had postponed until
tomorrow discussion of the knot Italian reparations question.

The American, British, French
and Russian foreign ministers also
agreed on a United States proposal
to use Italian property held by Allied nations in satisfying claims by each country's nationals against Italy. At the same time, the ministers adopted a clause binding Italy to renounce any claims for damages against Allied nationals
arising from the war.

In discussing the procedure for
James F. Byrnes supported a French
proposal that mixed tribunals be
set up consisting of one person
named by Italy, one by the Allied country concerned, and a third person to be named by the first two.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest
Bevin, according to American sources, said Britain favored this procedure.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov said he had opposed any clause binding Italy to renounce claims against Allied nationals because the Soviet Union thought

Molotov Gives In
But, Molotov added, in view of the importance Britain, the United States and France placed on such a formal renunciation, he would agree.

Byrnes insisted on extending the
to losses Italy suffered under the American "freedom" and other economic measures before the United States entered the war. Molotov agreed.

The ministers also discussed general economic clauses granting all Allied nations a most-favored-nation
status for at least eighteen months after signature of the treaty. He question arose as to whether nationalized industries would be subject

Elgin Criticizes Election Spending

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—
"Reckless spending" in Maryland's primary election which will be decided at the polls next Monday was criticized today by a Democratic faction that accused a rival camp of trying to "merchandise" its gubernatorial candidate.

W. Lee Elgin, campaign manager for J. Millard Tawes, asserted that the camp of William Preston Lane, Jr., had called in advertising specialists to promote Lane's candidacy in the same way they would try to boost the sales of commercial products.

Tawes and Lane are rival candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Elgin asserted money was being spent recklessly in behalf of Lane.
"I am not referring, of course, to outright purchases of political leadership," he said. "In such cases money can and does get results."

"I refer to reckless spending in advertising stunts, the waste of money on mushroom political clubs, the scattering of money around on election day."

Elgin said the possibility of removal of price ceilings on butter
and other dairy products July 1
gives producers a big incentive for withholding supplies from the market. The Senate has voted to eliminate these ceilings.

OPA also set ceilings for the first
time on bulk cream and on milk
sold for manufacturing purposes.
These actions are designed to stimulate production of butter, but OPA officials doubted that either these
moves or the price increase for butter will put more on the table very soon.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 17 (AP)— (via Canadian Press)—Union employees at the Chrysler Corporation
plant here and in Chatham, Ont., voted at mass meetings tonight to strike at 7 a. m. Tuesday.

Last-minute negotiations this afternoon failed to avert the walkout
caused by the company's rejection

FREAK TORNADO LEAVES TWISTED WRECKAGE

Security Council Again Adjourns without Vote On Case of Franco Spain

Ex-Cowpuncher Plans

SEATTLE, June 17 (AP)—Larry Hightower, 46, ex-Montana cowpuncher, said today he would start pushing a wheelbarrow
Ellensburg, Wash., for Seattle
on the Fourth of July.

Poet and veteran of the First World War, he plans to circle
the globe in twelve years, and
says a calendar picture of a
man pushing a barrow inspired
miles—even giving his feet and
his barrow a daily workout on
ocean-going ships.

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—
Housewives were confronted tonight
with higher prices for butter, cheese
and evaporated milk and prospects
of slightly smaller supplies of meat, poultry, eggs, wheat products and
dried fruits.

The higher prices were set by OPA, following earlier increases on milk, bread and other food.

The shorter supplies of other items
during the next twelve months were
Agriculture Anderson.

It said, however, that canned
fruits and vegetables will be more plentiful than during the year ending June 30. Supplies of other foods will be about the same.

The price increases are eleven
for cheddar cheese and one cent on
a fourteen and one-half-ounce can
of evaporated milk.

The retail increases go into effect,
OPA announced, with first sales
by dealers who have paid more for their supplies. Manufacturers were

OPA also set ceilings for the first
time on bulk cream and on milk
sold for manufacturing purposes.
These actions are designed to stimulate production of butter, but OPA
officials doubted that either these

ter will put more on the table very

nate these ceilings.

Lane Declares He Is Confident His Ticket Will Win in Primary

BALTIMORE, June 17 (AP)—Asserting that he "has tried to conduct
Preston Lane, Jr., Democratic candidate for the governorship, said today he was confident of victory
for his ticket in next Monday's primary.

The Lane slate includes James
J. Lacy for comptroller and Hall
Hammond for attorney general.

"Everyone loves a good fight in an election," Lane said, but he declared that he termed an effort on the part of his opposition "to lower

British Proposal Is Op- posed; Dr. Evatt Ap- peals to Gromyko

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Australia, France and Mexico joined today in firm opposition to an attempt by Great Britain to send the Spanish case from the United Nations Security Council to the General Assembly without a recommendation for a diplomatic break with Madrid.

After two and one-half hours of
debate, the council adjourned until 3 p. m. EDT tomorrow without a vote.

The new chairman, Dr. Francisco Castillo Nafarro, of Mexico, said some of the delegates had another engagement that made ad-
States Delegate Herschel V. Johnson
was asking to be heard.

The session was highlighted by a
delegate, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, to Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko
to go along with the majority "in the interest of democratic principles."

Gromyko last week had attacked
the subcommittee recommendations
for a break with Franco Spain if Generalissimo Franco still is in power in September. He said it did not go far enough.

Debate started when Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain, called on the council to pass along to the General Assembly the resolution
pending in the council but without
any recommendation for a break with Spain.

After Australia went on record against such a step, Alexander Parodi, French delegate, attacked the British move as "no sound."

a break with Generalissimo Francisco Franco if he still is in power in September. However, the subcommittee last week had accepted
a compromise leaving it to the General Assembly to ask such action
it thinks best.

Tornado Plunges Canadian City Into Darkness

and Stores Wrecked,

By KEN GREGORY
WINDSOR, Ont., June 17 (AP)—
Death rode out of the skies today
to strike a bewildered populace in this southwestern Canadian border
city. Homes were leveled. Stores were
wrecked. Lights went out and tel-phone lines snapped. Windsor gave all appearances of a ghost city.

I drove through the streets of Windsor, to its hospitals, and to its police station and newspaper.
It was dark, raining and flashes of lightning sparked the skies.

In the darkness the grim task of
caring for the injured, searching for
the missing and dead and looking
out for the homeless went forward.
There was no quick way of telling exactly how many were killed.

The earliest count said fifteen to twenty were dead in the outskirts farmlands of Windsor and three were known dead in River Rouge, that small Southern Michigan town nearby the big Ford Rouge plant.

Driving from spot to spot to find out what one could, we stopped at several hospitals. There we were told they had numbers varying from a dozen to three dozen or more. No one seemed to know the exact count.

It was first thought River Rouge
bore the brunt. We drove there first. A housing project was flattened in one spot. Downtown, a frame church was flattened. And there were a half dozen stores on
the main street that fell under the impact of the wind. People moved
about trying to save their bedclothes
and belongings.

Then came word that this Southwestern Canadian city of some 25,000
in the province of Ontario had been
hit hard. We swung immediately
over here across the Ambassador
bridge. The city could not be seen.
It was in total darkness. The rain was pouring.

Rouge, Mich., and Sandwich, Ont.

by Gale; Property Dam-

least twenty persons were known
dead and many more believed killed tonight when a spring tornado dipped into sections of Canada and Southern Michigan.
More than 100 were injured, many critically.

Property damage was estimated in
the hundreds of thousands.

The rolling, devastating wind ripped
into River Rouge, six miles from downtown Detroit and then smashed across the Detroit river into Sandwich, on the outskirts of Windsor.

Waterspouts were raised on the Detroit river as the tornado seemed to the Canadian side, but coast
guardmen said there were no reports of boats in distress.

The little community of Sandwich apparently was hardest hit by the fury of the winds. The Canadian press at Windsor said "at least fifteen persons were known dead and probably many more" and that lives there as the wind flattened
an area 100-feet wide.

Spectators told of freight cars
tossed about like playthings, houses
lifted from their foundations, and even bodies being carried away by the wind.

Ford Plant Escapes
Although the center of the havoc
mammoth Ford Motor Company's Rouge plant, apparently this suffered no serious damage.

Strangely enough the other portions of sprawling Detroit with its more than 1,500,000 population suffered little. The wind was not heavy and the only damage was caused by heavy rain.

Electric power and telephone lines
on the Canadian side were particularly hard hit and officials turned
many other power lines off as a precautionary measure because of
the danger of falling wires.

Hospitals on the Canadian side
were hard pressed as the power curtailment came as many injured
were being rushed into the hospitals
by first aid workers.

The Canadian press said at 9:30 p. m. EDT that nine bodies already had been taken to the Windsor morgue and that many other bodies had been carried away by the wind.

On the American side, the River Rouge Community, many of whose
residents work in the huge Ford plant, was sorely beset. The Windsor housing project bore a consider-

New Move To Curb Unions Develops

new move to put legislative curbs
on unions developed in Congress today when the Senate Judiciary committee brushed six months of accumulated dust off the Hobbs "anti-racketeering" bill and voted to send it to the Senate floor.

The measure had lain in a committee pigeon-hole since last December when it was passed by the House.

Sponsored by Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala.), it would make it a felony under federal law to interfere by "robbery or extortion" or by threats of violence with movement of goods in interstate commerce. Violations would be punishable by fines up to $10,000 and by imprisonment up to twenty years.

Backers of the bill have said it is aimed primarily at some unions
which take the position that anyone bringing produce to a union-
organized market must pay for a union driver, whether or not a driver actually is employed.

One provision of the broader Case
strike control bill, which President Truman vetoed, contained language similar to the Hobbs bill. In his veto message, Mr. Truman approved
the objectives of that provision but
criticized its wording. He said it should be made clear that it does

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.), announcing the committee action, said
only that approval was "not unanimous" and that the vote was "not
of record."

Army headquarters in Frankfurt announced that they and Maj. David P. Watson, who was arrested in Germany, will be tried before August 1.

The specific charges against the trio still were not announced although Capt. Frank M. Bosworth, assigned to the Durants as counsel, demanded last week that the charges, "if any," be filed. Bicyclist Should Always Be Alert, Doctor Declares

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

It is a shameful prediction that we shall lose more lives by accident in the next few years of peace, than we lost by enemy guns and bombs during the war. Such waste of life is needless because most accidents are preventable. There is no real reason why they should occur at all; they serve no purpose; they are simply the price we pay for carelessness.

Many accidents occur in the home. Severe injuries come from falls in the bathtub or from a step-ladder. A large number also occur on the street.

It has been forecast that there will be a sharp rise in the number of accidental deaths among bicyclists as automobile and bicycle traffic increases. Bicycling is, of course, a healthful sport that calls into play many muscles of the body, speeds up breathing and circulation and helps get rid of body wastes.

Parents' Responsibility
Hence, it is to be encouraged. But parents should tell their children to be careful and might also tell them the reason as set out in this article.

The greatest rise in the death toll from bicycle accidents, it is predicted, will be among boys between 10 and 19 years of age. It has been pointed out that there was a gain in popularity of bicycles in the ten years before the Second World War and this was accompanied by increased accidents.

In fact, the number was more than doubled from 1935 to 1941. Four-fifths of the accidents occur as a result of collision between a bicycle and an automobile. The remainder happen as a result of a fall off a bicycle, from a bicycle running into a streetcar, curb, tree or other object.

Few Girls Are Killed
Fatalities among girls from bicycle accidents are comparatively infrequent. This may be because girls ride bicycles less often than boys or because they are more careful.

In any event, bicycling is not to be discouraged, but care should be taken by the bicyclist as well as by the automobile driver to aid in avoiding accidents. With advances made by modern science, many lives are being saved by the prevention of disease and by improved living, yet all of this saving will come to no avail if accidents continue to increase.

The watchwords for accident prevention are "care" and "thoughtfulness." It would also help if communities provided roads for the exclusive use of bicyclists.

You get so disgusted with life lately. All this struggle—and what's the use? Nothing but worry. And everybody you know is in the same box. Everybody worrying, wondering, trying to play safe—scared to make a move—and sick of it all.

Sometimes, when you think back to the all dreams you once had, the great expectations, you can hardly believe you're the same person. Those vows you made — YOU weren't going to let your life fizzle out the way most folks did. YOU weren't going to waste yourself on a petty squirrel-in-a-cage existence. No! You were going to go places... do things! And how? Aw, what a fool you were to think that you could beat the game! The cards were stacked against you from the start.

Whenever I hear someone complaining that they aren't getting enough out of life—myself, for example—I think of that story in the Old Book. Perhaps you remember it, that scene by Lake Geneva? Dawn on an empty beach—an ebbing tide—a group of weary men washing their empty nets. Simon Peter—James and John, the sons of Zebedee, who were his partners. Then as they worked in silent bitterness, a young man came their way. A stranger... ragged, horn-handed as themselves.

"You've caught no fish? Then launch out to the deep! Let down your nets—be ready for a draught!"

Launch out? But had they not already swept the empty tide? And yet perhaps this stranger had some wisdom which they lacked—some secret knowledge of these greater depths they'd never fished. Then why not take a chance? And so they left the close familiar shore... left those safe shallows they always fished... and "launched out to the deep."

"And when they had this done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes: and their nets brake!"

Of Allegany County

Due to recent illness of my wife and myself, taking care of County business in the capacity of County Commissioner, and looking after my own business, I have been unable to do as much campaigning as I would have liked to, but since some of my opponents are circulating a theory that I have withdrawn from the field, I wish to make the following statements:

I have not withdrawn my candidacy, and I stand on my past record of discharging the duties as County Commissioner of Allegany County.

In asking you for your support I would like to say that I know I am not infallible. I have made mistakes, but they were not intentional. I assure you I have never made decisions or spent the taxpayers' money to re-elect myself, or to further my political ambitions. Rather, I have made my decisions and voted for those expenditures that would be beneficial to the majority of the people in the county to the very best of my ability.

Immediately after election in 1938, we started a drive to secure the Savage River Dam Project, and were successful in attaining it. Upon completion, this project will be of tremendous value as flood and health protection, not only to the people of the City of Cumberland, but to the small communities and numerous industries located along the Potomac River.

We immediately asked the Board of Education for the Cumberland and Union Street School Buildings. Again we were successful, and these buildings were converted into the offices now housing the State's Attorney, People's Court, County Roads Engineer's, Welfare Board, and numerous other offices. Before this conversion, we were renting offices for these purposes at a cost of approximately $3500.00 yearly. At the present time, the revenue to the county, over and above previous rental paid, is approximately $5000.00 annually.

We established a County Infirmary for the chronic aged and ill poor people of the county. Improvements were made to the County Home and Insane Asylum in an amount close to $50,000.00, and they are now in very good condition. All this was done despite the fact we were at war at the time of repairs.

Since election in 1938, the County Commissioners' office has collected over half-a-million dollars in back taxes from various corporations on property supposedly heretofore missed or unreported. This money enabled us to participate in building additions to the Memorial Hospital. The cost of this project was to be divided between the County and the City of Cumberland. Thus we were able to pay our share of this cost in cash, with no bonds to retire, and interest to pay on them. This money also enabled us to establish our County Roads Department. We now have approximately $100,000.00 worth of new road equipment entirely paid for. The people using the roads last winter can verify the advantages in having our snow and cinder equipment, and those using the roads can easily see their improved condition for year-round travel.

At the present time we have a Post-War Road Construction Program going into effect—a two year program to be completed this year and next, the program to be financed equally by County Funds, and by State and Federal funds. This year the program includes the Vocke Road and the Mill Run Road, and next year, Frostburg, Midlothian and Carlos Roads, to be rebuilt, and relocated in some places. The entire program also includes a Bridge Building and Renewal project, throughout the county.

All this has been accomplished by fighting the wild motions and personal ambitions of certain pressure groups. We were able to hold the present tax rate at an even rate with last year, only by refusing exemptions and requests for large donations. The tax rate has still reached an all-time high, but I sincerely believe that it can be reduced greatly in the years to come, under proper management, and with refusals to personally profiting pressure groups. I make this declaration in view of certain facts which I shall explain.

To begin with, the gasoline tax received from the State will well carry our County Roads Program in the coming years. It represents a very important source of income, and if handled correctly can be invaluable to the taxpayers of Allegany County.

We have also applied for more aid for our patients in the County Home and the Insane Asylum, and we have every reason to believe it will be granted, thus disposing partially of another county financial burden.

Due to past refusals of exemptions for certain corporations, more revenue from taxes on these corporations can be expected to supplement our County Treasury.

In view of these important factors, the county's bonded indebtedness is declining, and will, under correct control, continue to decline. This will, therefore, enable the tax rate to be lowered, in years to come, to a much more reasonable rate.

I have always tried to keep the tax rate in Allegany County down as low as possible, for it helps not only the property owner, but those people throughout the county who rent their homes, and I feel that if the methods I have formerly mentioned are firmly forwarded, a lower tax rate can be obtained, and if I am re-elected, this is the main objective I shall want to attain.

Signed, SIMEON W. GREEN,

All this has been accomplished by fighting the wild motions and personal ambitions of certain pressure groups. We were able to hold the present tax rate at an even rate with last year, only by refusing exemptions and requests for large donations. The tax rate has still reached an all-time high, but I sincerely believe that it can be reduced greatly in the years to come, under proper management, and with refusals to personally profiting pressure groups. I make this declaration in view of certain facts which I shall explain.

To begin with, the gasoline tax received from the State will well carry our County Roads Program in the coming years. It represents a very important source of income, and if handled correctly can be invaluable to the taxpayers of Allegany County.

We have also applied for more aid for our patients in the County Home and the Insane Asylum, and we have every reason to believe it will be granted, thus disposing partially of another county financial burden.

Due to past refusals of exemptions for certain corporations, more revenue from taxes on these corporations can be expected to supplement our County Treasury.

In view of these important factors, the county's bonded indebtedness is declining, and will, under correct control, continue to decline. This will, therefore, enable the tax rate to be lowered, in years to come, to a much more reasonable rate.

I have always tried to keep the tax rate in Allegany County down as low as possible, for it helps not only the property owner, but those people throughout the county who rent their homes, and I feel that if the methods I have formerly mentioned are firmly forwarded, a lower tax rate can be obtained, and if I am re-elected, this is the main objective I shall want to attain.

Are Taxpayers Getting Their Money's Worth?

Government workers should not be criticized unfairly, but it is important, in view of current tax rates, that efficiency prevail in the various departments. It has been said often by commentators that government bureaus are vastly overstaffed. New Rep. Earl Wilson, of Indiana, asserts that he is gathering statistics to show that the taxpayers are not getting their money's worth from government employees.

"When they get fifty-two Sundays and fifty-two Saturdays and a month's vacation plus a lot of sick leave, they only work about half the 365 days of the year," he added. He added that the "only excuse I find for keeping three or four times as many employees as are needed is that the administration wants to use them for propaganda purposes."

Government employees, he said, are "indoctrinated" with alien philosophies they learn from the economists and professors for whom they work, and are "expected eventually to return to their own communities and sell these theories to their parents and friends."

This is a serious charge, and if there is evidence to uphold it the entire matter should be investigated. At any rate, it is the sole explanation offered so far for the retention of 3,000,000 employees on the federal payroll now that the war is over. The ways of government are not so mysterious that the facts cannot be obtained in this case.

It may be difficult to prove inefficiency on the part of government workers—that is, to show that any department is overstaffed. But the taxpayers' representatives at Washington have the power to initiate inquiries into efficiency as well as indoctrination.

The Idea Sounds Good But There's a Hitch

Inasmuch as Dr. Enrique Gil is professor of international law at the University of La Plata at Buenos Aires, he may be expected to know something about international relations. In fact, he does and he's trying to prove it in a good-will tour of the United States.

What is needed to bring about better understanding between the United States and Argentina, according to Dr. Gil, is a greater interchange of visits by people of the two countries, especially by persons of prominence—men who have something to say in the political and cultural phases of each country's life, men who help to shape their policies.

That sounds pretty good. Americans, always cordial to visitors from other countries, will be all for it. Foreigners are permitted to look around as they please and say and write what they please about Americans and what they see here.

The only hitch is that the powers that be in some other countries aren't quite so glad to let Americans look around in their ballrooms and say and write what they please. And maybe the powers that be in other countries don't want their people to know too much about the way democracy works here.

If Dr. Gil can sell his idea of promoting better international relations in his own country—and perhaps take a little side trip to Moscow for the same purpose—he will be doing the cause of peace a lot of good. He doesn't need to sell it here. Americans are in the same business.

Washington Grocer's Vigil Is Rewarded

Experts at the Washington naval observatory were aroused by a sound sleep the other night at 11 o'clock. They had a telephone call from David Rotbart, who operates a combination grocery and liquor store in the nation's capital. Mr. Rotbart dabbles in astronomy as a hobby. He told the sleepy-eyed scientists that he thought he had discovered a new comet.

He had done just that. Not only was the heretofore-unobserved heavenly flyer right there in the sky where Rotbart said it was, but it is still there, and scientists all over the world are excited about it. The new comet probably will bear the grocer's name, which means that millions of men in future generations will read about Rotbart's comet as they do about Halley's now. It seems, though, that there was a simultaneous discovery of the comet by a European savant named Pajdnakov and that the new visitor to the celestial regions will be known as Comet Pajdnakov Rotbart.

Mr. Rotbart never had any training in astronomy, but he knows his stars and where they belong. He observes them from a home-made telescope mounted atop the roof of his home through a pair of twenty-power binoculars which he has just finished rebuilding. David Rotbart saw at the right time a thing in the sky that astronomers with degrees a mile long keep their eyes glued to their cannon-barrel instruments year in and year out to see. Such is fame.

"Famine" Gardens Are Vital Need This Year

During hostilities the public was urged to make war gardens. When the fighting was about over, victory gardens were advocated. Now that war is in the background and victory has been achieved, one of war's by-products suggests a name for another type of garden and this year the relief agencies are pleading with the people to work in famine gardens. Sometimes the urge is strong to tell these busybodies to go to work themselves for a change, but apparently this is not yet the time for it.

There is no suggestion that the vegetables these gardeners raise are suitable for shipment to the hungry hordes abroad, but there is a valid argument in the idea that whatever the people grow to feed themselves leaves that much other food for relief uses. Gardening this year is not merely a pleasant pastime assuring exercise in the open air. It is a vital need because a shortage of various foods is a definite prediction.

The gardeners can grow crops for immediate use and for conservation. The green stuff that usually appears early in the spring can still be planted with assurance that normal weather will encourage average yields. Other products, suitable for canning, should be planted immediately. It is not too late for beans, corn, potatoes, and many other products that will be of the utmost value next autumn.

Vets' Housing Program Is Grand Stage Play

Universal public desire to provide homes for veterans resulted in Congress, on recommendation of the president, enacting accommodating legislation with vast subsidies. The program got off to an auspicious start but now is tied up by shortages of materials caused by strikes and unrealistic pricing that is channeling it into black markets.

Surveys throughout the country disclose that thousands of veterans' houses would be ready for occupancy but for lack of such items as piping for utilities and plumbing fixtures. Construction was begun on tens of thousands of other houses but advanced little further than digging of the basements before running out of materials.

The veterans' housing program so far amounts to a grand stage play without substantial results. Government price and material control policies are obstructing production of home-building necessities. In other times the nation relied on the law of supply and demand and got the homes it needed. This has been replaced by the control delusion which produces little except a mirage.

Unusual Aspects Seen by Sullivan In Case Bill Veto

By MARK SULLIVAN

Last week President Truman vetoed a bill, the Case measure putting restrictions on labor unions. A presidential veto is not uncommon, but this one has aspects at once unusual and weighty.

The president set himself against the legislative branch of government—the Case bill had passed the House with a more than two-thirds majority, the Senate by approaching two-thirds.

The president set himself against his own party. In the House, the Case bill had been supported by more than half the Democrats, in the Senate by approaching half.

In setting himself against those who supported the Case bill, Mr. Truman set himself dramatically on the side of those who opposed it. Of these, the spearhead was the Congress of Industrial Organizations and its Political Action Committee. What CIO had not been able to do, Mr. Truman's veto did for him.

Rescue from Defeat

For CIO, Mr. Truman's veto had the climatic quality of rescue from defeat at the end of a long struggle in which they had up to this point been unsuccessful. For six years labor organizations had resisted successfully movements in Congress to modify the Wagner act, movements which on three occasions progressed to the point of passage in the House by approximately a two-thirds majority. For five months CIO had been resisting the Case bill specifically. After it passed the House in February, CIO's resistance had been directed to preventing any action by the Senate. In March the CIO News had said, about senators who might favor the bill, "It is necessary to start the campaign against them before the bill reaches the floor of the Senate." After they were successful in the attempt to prevent action in the Senate, the same periodical, quoting CIO leaders, said on May 2, "We will fight this thing through the Senate, and if they should pass the Case bill, we will fight for a presidential veto."

For clearly about the whole situation, the president's veto of the Case bill should be seen as what in fact it is, a thing standing alone. It should not be confused with the temporary legislation which Mr. Truman had requested Congress to pass as an emergency to terminate after the end of the state of war.

Suggestions Evaporate

This emergency measure had also been passed by the Senate and House, and was still before them for adjustment of differences in the two versions. There arose a suggestion that Congress, in order to overcome the president's veto and get the Case bill which it wanted, should attach to it a provision that it did not want, and pass the two as one. A variation of this suggestion was that Congress, in order to salvage some of the Case bill, should remove from it those provisions which the president in his veto had specifically objected to.

But the president's veto was not a suggestion. It was a decision. The relation between President Truman and CIO contains contradictions. While Mr. Truman's veto of the Case bill pleases CIO extravagantly, his proposal for emergency legislation repels them violently. And long before the present situation arose, CIO leaders had denounced the president.

Political Consolidation Possible

But if there is confusion in that area, it seems certain that the body of public thought which thinks that the labor situation is wrong and wants legislative remedy for it, will take the position that Mr. Truman has prevented it, and in that position will consolidate politically.

CORRECTION: Last week this column, in an analysis of the charges made by Supreme Court Justice Jackson against Justice Black, said that "Justice Black tried to hurry the announcement" of a court's decision. This was inference from the context of Justice Jackson's statement. But Justice Jackson did not say it was Justice Black who did this. Justice Jackson's own words were, "It was proposed to hand down the decision . . . without waiting for the opinion and dissent."

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Feuds among Supreme Court Justices Are Nothing New, Pearson Points Out

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 17—Some people seem to be laboring under the impression that wrangles are new on the supreme court. Actually, wrangling began soon after the court was formed with the attempted impeachment of Justice Samuel Chase, continued vigorously under John Marshall and has flared up intermittently ever since.

Latest wrangle, prior to the Jackson blowup, was between amiable Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone and austere Justice Owen J. Roberts. Although Republicans and Hoover appointees, they did not get along well in recent years, and there was one hot though private argument between them over the question of sitting on a case involving Stone's former law firm.

Before that, however, the most virulent feud on the supreme court revolved around cranky, crusty Justice James C. McReynolds the only justice credited with driving an associate off the court. For six years Justice John H. Clarke sat beside him, and for six years McReynolds never spoke. Finally Clarke resigned.

McReynolds also tried to drive the late Justice Louis D. Brandeis off the bench. He would rattle his papers or even leave the bench when Brandeis rendered an opinion. And, when the jurists adjourned for their customary sandwich and soup and crackers at the noon recess, McReynolds turned up his nose at lunching at a table with Brandeis. Instead, he duffed his robe, drove downtown and lunched by himself.

Row During Grant's Regime

Another bitter battle made the supreme court took place during the Grant administration over the Legal Tender act. Justice Robert Grier, then senile, was induced by Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase to change his vote, thereby helping to make the Legal Tender act unconstitutional. This was a great embarrassment to the Republicans, who needed the Legal Tender act to support their fiscal policies during and after the Civil war. Republican members of the court, therefore charged Chief Justice Chase, a Democrat, with deliberately influencing the court majority because of his desires to run for president on the Democratic ticket.

"The chief justice," charged Justice Samuel F. Miller, resorted to all sorts of stratagems of the lowest trickery." Inner court feeling was so bitter that the minority wrote a private memo, vigorously critical of the chief justice. It read in part: "An attempt was made to convince an aged and infirm member of the court (Justice Grier) that he had not understood the question on which he voted. . . . In a week on that day, every judge on the bench authorized a committee of their number to say to the judge who had reconsidered his vote that it was their unanimous opinion that he ought to resign. . . ."

Feud Over Justice Field

There was also the court feud over Justice Stephen J. Field at the time the supreme court declared the income tax law unconstitutional in 1895. Field, then nearly 80 years old, led the attack against the income tax. Senile, and frequently asleep in court, a committee of his colleagues suggested his retirement but he only flew into a tantrum. His vote against the income tax made it necessary to pass a constitutional amendment to make the income tax legal which took eighteen years. It was the only way Field's opposition could be overcome.

Charles Evans Hughes, after retiring as associate justice and before he was appointed chief justice, delivered a series of lectures on the supreme court before the Columbia law school in which he described the efforts to get Justice Field off the bench.

"It occurred to other members of the court," Hughes said, "that Justice Field had served on a committee which waited upon Justice Grier to suggest his retirement, and it was thought that recalling this to Justice Field's memory might aid him to decide to retire."

Justice John M. Harlan was deputized to make the suggestion. He went over to Justice Field, who was sitting alone on a settee apparently oblivious to his surroundings, and after arousing him, asked if he did not recall how anxious the court had been with respect to Justice Grier's condition. Justice Harlan asked if Justice Field did not remember what had been said to Justice Grier on that occasion. The old man listened, gradually became alert, and finally, his eyes blazing with the old fire of youth, burst out: "Yes and a dirtier day's work I never did in all my life."

Lincoln Spanked Chief Justice

Another period of near-civil war took place in the court after the last war, when the nine justices were called upon to pass on the espionage cases. The court was so split, that a committee, including Justices Willis Van Devanter and William R. Day, called on Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes to ask that he not write one of his usual vigorous dissenting opinions.

"You know what my ideas of the law are, and I will not change them," he replied. And for some months following this, the justices stopped speaking to each other.

Probably the most vitriolic criticism ever leveled against the court by anyone in high places came from Abraham Lincoln, when Chief Justice Roger B. Taney called upon the commanding officer at Ft. McHenry in Baltimore to relinquish a prisoner during the Civil war. This the commanding general refused to do.

"The judiciary machinery," remarked Lincoln at the time, "seems as if it had been designed not to sustain the government but to embarrass and betray it."

Frankest observation regarding the court came from one of its own members, Justice David J. Brewer, in 1908.

"It is a mistake," he said, "to suppose the supreme court is either honored or helped by being spoken of as beyond criticism. . . . The time is past in the history of the world when any living man or body of men can be set on a pedestal and decorated with a halo."

Veterans' Housing

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., guiding spirit of the American Veterans' Committee, recently attended a closed-door meeting of veterans' leaders with Housing Czar Wilson Wyatt. A lively debate occurred on veterans' housing problems when Wyatt's assistants brought out that between 250,000 and 500,000 vets would be evicted this year.

John Steele, aggressive president of the American Legion, jumped to his feet, demanding that something be done.

"There must be some solution," said Steele, "I can assure you that the American Legion won't twiddle its thumbs while men who served their country in this war are being thrown out on the streets."

"I suggest that groups of perhaps twenty veterans band together and erect their own pre-fabricated houses in localities where there is a labor shortage, providing there is no conflict with labor unions."

"I'm inclined to agree with that," spoke up F. D. R., Jr., "but we must be careful not to conflict with organized labor. Let's be sure of our ground first by sounding out the union leaders in areas affected. I'm inclined to question the wisdom of organizing such husking bees unless the labor unions approve."

Criticism Follows Jackson's Comment On Supreme Court

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 17—A strange wave of criticism has followed the words of Justice Robert Jackson's published comments on the inside workings of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Instead of expressions of gratitude that Justice Jackson had the courage to expose the irregular situation, it actually is being suggested in some quarters that he should resign, along with the justice he criticized. This would not dispose of the basic problem at all and would not be fair to the man who uncovered a scandal.

What then did Justice Jackson reveal? Could the facts have been disclosed to the public any other way? Should any considerations of precedent be allowed to befool the real issue—which, by the way, is not at all related to the presence of two former law partners in a case, one as attorney and the other as justice?

Far more important is the disclosure that someone on the court—it is not stated who the justice was—proposed that a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States be handed down to influence the course of a pending labor controversy.

Reluctant to Investigate

Congress may be reluctant to investigate a co-ordinate branch of the government, but plainly it is of the utmost importance to find out whether the supreme court functions as an independent institution or as an arm of the CIO or the miners' union or some other labor organization which stood to benefit by a departure from the accustomed method of handling cases by the court. All that is known of the incident comes from Justice Jackson, who says:

"On the court Mr. Justice Black because the chief justice was in dissent. Mr. Justice Black chose Mr. Justice Murphy to write the majority opinion. While Mr. Justice Murphy was preparing his opinion a strike of the mine workers and negotiations with the operators were proceeding. It was proposed to hand down the decision in favor of the miners without waiting for the opinion and dissent. The only apparent reason behind this proposal was to announce the decision in time to influence the contract negotiations during the coal strike. Chief Justice Stone protested such proposed irregular treatment vigorously."

"I do not believe Mr. Justice Murphy favored it. In all events it was abandoned. But the conduct of the case, following the Tennessee case, created uneasiness in my mind."

This is an amazing revelation. Justice Jackson felt it his duty to tell the American people about it, for, unless some members of the court spoke out, there would be no way of knowing authoritatively what really happened.

The episode is most unusual and, stated as Justice Jackson describes it, the news is shocking. Why, therefore, should Justice Jackson now be punished for telling what went on? He may have made a mistake from some viewpoints in talking about the scandal at all but it is not in his nature to remain silent in the face of irregularity of any kind.

Public Should Know

The public is entitled to know all sides of the controversy. Who proposed that a matter of such grave importance be announced without opinion or dissent and what were the reasons for haste? There is nothing personal in an insistence by Congress on the facts. It is the public business as well as confidence in the court which are at stake.

If the supreme court has become just another political body which looks upon its opinions as a means of influence labor union activities and not as a tribunal that merely passes on the law and the cases before it, irrespective of who is hurt or helped by the decisions, then the sooner the whole court is subjected to discipline by the country the better. Many people think the justices cannot be removed except by impeachment. The fact is a constitutional amendment, if adopted in the regular way, can create a new court with a fixed retirement age and certain other specifications and all the justices can be removed by a proviso in the amendment if the country wants to adopt such an extreme measure. It would take a two-thirds vote of both houses and ratification by three quarters of the states to accomplish such a result.

The Law

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I have been greatly impressed—as I presume many another has—with many of the signs in my city, that suggest certain things, ending with the statement: "It is the law." I believe that many are restrained to obey such signs, for inbred in all good citizens is their respect for law. It is disrespectful for law that is at the bottom of most of our troubles.

Universally there is contempt for the driver of a car who disregards the traffic lights, for each driver instinctively feels that they are his own protection. Their disregard often results in tragedy to more than the one who violates them.

That book by Emory Reeves, in which he points out the way for a just and lasting peace through the agency of international law, that is a world government, established upon a rock-bound basis of law, seems to be the only one by which a United Nations Organization can long last and be effective.

Laws, when justly constructed, are made in favor of the majority and for the good of the many, not the few. No national aspirations should ever be allowed to tread upon such a law. We are One World, and will never be anything else. It is constructive to feed an enemy, but destructive to hate him. On such a premise you can gain his respect for the law which you set before him to follow.

There are many unjust laws enacted, but the power of public opinion can wipe them from the statute books! And this can be achieved through orderly methods, set down by law. Where the law is re-

By BOB HOPE

If a guy isn't wearing a straw hat now, he definitely isn't in step with the styles. I have the same straw hat I used to wear in vaudeville, and I'd still be wearing it if it weren't for those tomato stains on it.

But everybody must be buying new ones now. I went into a store and said, "What do you have in the way of a straw hat?" The clerk said, "About sixty other people . . . they're in line ahead of you!" The fellow next to me said, "How much is the straw hat on that dummy?" . . . It was very embarrassing when the salesman took off my hat and started looking for the price tag.

I don't know why they make such a fuss about straw hats, anyway. After all, what's a straw hat but blocked horse food?

The history of hats is a little strange, too . . . The cavemen wore hats to keep the sun out of their eyes. The knights of the middle ages wore them for protection, and now the politicians wear them so they can throw 'em in the ring.

spected, there you will find good government. And the people, as a whole, are its final judges.

The law is each individual's protection. Violators of laws are the ones soonest to howl and complain if another violator does so in a manner to interfere with his own interests! The ones who show contempt for our form of government are always quick to appeal to its laws if their personal protection is endangered! Strange, isn't it?

Frostburg Minister Is Accepted for Extended Tour of Duty

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 17 — Chaplain Raymond W. Cooke, Frostburg, was received a letter from Maj. Gen. M. S. Eddy, commanding the Third Service Command, praising his work as post chaplain at Camp Ritchie.

Maj. Gen. Eddy wrote that he had been informed of "your splendid record as post chaplain" at Camp Ritchie from December 4, 1945, to April 10, 1946.

"In describing your duties, particular mention was made of your superior supervision of church services for all denominations and for many races and creeds," Gen. Eddy wrote, adding, "You gave constant guidance to all who asked it. Your devotion to duty assisted materially in the accomplishment of the mission of Camp Ritchie."

Gen. Eddy told Chaplain Cooke he is "gratified by your work and add my appreciation for a job well done."

Chaplain Cooke entered the army in January 1943, and was separated from service and promoted to major April 27 at Fort Meade. A call for the return of 300 chaplains was announced in May by the War Department, however, and Chaplain Cooke applied for an extended tour of duty with rank of captain, was accepted and assigned to Fort Belvoir, Va., on June 1.

Prior to entering service Chaplain Cooke was pastor of the Eckhart church of the Methodist church, attending the chaplain school at Harvard university, he was assigned to the One Hundred and Sixty-first station hospital. When the hospital left San Francisco in January 1944, he was designated transport chaplain on one of the largest transports for the voyage to Sydney, Australia. The hospital set up for operation at Finschhafen, New Guinea, in February 1944, and a year later Chaplain Cooke was transferred to the fourth general hospital. He returned to the states as a patient in June 1945 and was discharged from Woodrow Wilson general hospital, Staunton, Va., and after a leave was assigned to Camp Ritchie.

Mrs. Cooke and a daughter, Helen, reside at 290 East Main street, Frostburg. A son, the Rev. R. J. Cooke, has just finished school at a chaplain in the navy, and is pastor of the Methodist church at Trappe, Md.

Choir Festival To Resume
The Mountain Choir Festival will resume its programs this season, it was announced by the Rev. Felix G. Robinson, Arthurdale, W. Va., founder and director.

They will be presented this year at Arthurdale, W. Va., in two sessions, afternoon and evening of Saturday, September 28.

This will be the ninth season for the festival, the programs in other years having been presented at Mt. Lake Park until discontinued on account of the war. It was organized at Keyser, W. Va., in 1934.

The festival was the scene of colorful assemblies of vested choirs which participated in liturgical outdoor processions, oratorios, choral vespers, the choral eucharist and virtuosos a cappella music. Besides the festival choir which averaged 275 voices each season, each choral unit also sang for a rating under competent judges.

The Arthurdale community church is to be in charge of ticket sale. Rev. Mr. Robinson, called to Arthurdale, in 1943, has since busied himself in developing the church, assisting in community projects, and teaching music, history and English in Mountain high school. He and his wife, Lucille Henry Robinson, who is assistant director of the festival this year, direct the a cappella choir of the community church.

In former programs the festival choir gave the world's premiere of a number of choral pieces now in the standard repertoire of ecclesiastical music, and was on a nationwide hook-up during three seasons when master records were made of their performances.

OPA Is Denounced at Merchants' Annual Conference in Petersburg

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., June 17 —The annual meeting of the South Branch Valley Merchants' Association, held here last week, was featured by the adoption of a strongly worded resolution advising members to sell no more meat in Petersburg, Grant and Hardy counties until some relief in the existing shortage condition is obtained from the OPA. R. P. Thompson, Petersburg merchant, presided in the absence of the president, Julius Thompson, and he introduced George W. King, executive secretary of the West Virginia Association of Retail Grocers, who conducted an election of officers resulting in the following selections:

President, Warren Harper, Durgon; first vice president, Horace Dove, Mozer; second vice president, Earl Harman, Petersburg; third vice president, D. C. Harper, Mouth of Seneca; secretary and treasurer, Virgil Mathias, Petersburg. Directors elected were R. Paskel Thompson, Petersburg, chairman of the board; Dodd Fisher, Mt. Storm; Thomas Hawse, Moorefield; Quentin Harman, Mozer; John Coffman, Mrs. G. W. Kuhn, W. H. Kemp, Donald Baker and Herman Sions, Moorefield; Bert Sions, Franklin, and H. P. Evans, Scherr.

King spoke on organization and the dangers threatening merchandising on account of activity of communists, groups and possible legislation in prospect that would be damaging to retailing. He pointed out the power wielded by the merchants' organization in the three valley counties composing the local organization. He pronounced the unfairness of OPA toward retailers "abominable" with "kangaroo methods" of enforcement by fining innocent merchants for only slight errors in prices.

"Until we curb OPA," he declared, "by abolishing that bureau, we will soon have nothing to do business with, as OPA is curtailing production."

King referred to the officials running the OPA as a "bunch of nit-wits" who "need to be run out."

He suggested closing the feed stores until relief from the present "intolerable condition" is obtained.

Chaplain Cooke's Commended By Gen. Eddy

Frostburg Minister Is Accepted for Extended Tour of Duty

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 17 — Chaplain Raymond W. Cooke, Frostburg, has received a letter from Maj. Gen. E. S. Eddy, commanding the Third Service Command, praising his work as post chaplain at Camp Ritchie.

Maj. Gen. Eddy wrote that he had been informed of "your splendid record as post chaplain" at Camp Ritchie from December 4, 1945, to April 1946.

In describing your duties, particular mention was made of your superior supervision of church services for all denominations and for many races and creeds. Gen. Eddy wrote, adding, "You gave constant guidance to all who asked it. Your devotion to duty assisted materially in the accomplishment of the mission of Camp Ritchie."

Gen. Eddy told Chaplain Cooke he is "gratified by your work and add my appreciation for a job well done."

Chaplain Cooke entered the army in January 1943, and was separated from service and promoted to major April 27 at Fort Meade. A call for the return of 300 chaplains was announced in May by the War department, however, and Chaplain Cooke applied for an extended tour of duty with rank of captain, was accepted and assigned to Fort Belvoir, Va., on June 1.

After attending the chaplain school at Harvard university, he was assigned to the One Hundred and Sixty-first station hospital. When the hospital left San Francisco in January 1944, he was designated transport chaplain on one of the largest transporters for the voyage to Sydney, Australia. The hospital set up for operation at Finschhafen, New Guinea, in February 1944, and a year later Chaplain Cooke was transferred to the fourth general hospital. He returned to the states as a patient in June 1945 and in October was discharged from Woodrow Wilson general hospital, Staunton, Va., and after a leave was assigned to Camp Ritchie.

Mrs. Cooke and a daughter, Helen, reside at 290 East Main street, Frostburg. A son, the Rev. R. J. Cooke, has just finished active duty as chaplain in the navy, and is pastor of the Methodist church at Trappe, Md.

Choir Festival To Resume

The Mountain Choir Festival will resume its programs this season. It was announced by the Rev. Felix G. Robinson, Arthurdale, W. Va., founder and director.

They will be presented this year at Arthurdale, W. Va., in two sessions, afternoon and evening of Saturday, September 28.

This will be the ninth season for the festival, the programs in other years having been presented at Mt. Lake Park until discontinued on account of the war. It was organized at Keyser, W. Va., in 1924. The festival was the scene of colorful assemblies of vested choirs which participated in liturgical outdoor processions, oratorios, choral vespers, the choral eucharist and virtuosos a cappella music. Besides the festival choir which averaged 275 voices each season, each choral unit also sang for a rating under competent judges.

The Arthurdale community church is to be in charge of ticket sale. Rev. Mr. Robinson, called to Arthurdale, in 1943, has since busied himself in developing the church, assisting in community projects, and teaching music, history and English in Masontown high school. He and his wife, Lucille Henry Robinson, who is assistant director of the festival this year, direct the a cappella choir of the community church.

In former programs the festival choir gave the world's premiere of a number of choral pieces now in the standard repertoire of ecclesiastical music and was on a nationwide hook-up during three seasons when master records were made of their performances.

OPA Is Denounced at Merchants' Annual Conference in Petersburg

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va., June 17 —The annual meeting of the South Branch Valley Merchants' Association, held here last week, was featured by the adoption of a strongly worded resolution advising members to sell no more meat in Pendleton, Grant and Hardy counties until some relief in the existing shortage condition is obtained from the OPA.

R. P. Thompson, Petersburg merchant, presided in the absence of the president, Julius Thompson, and he introduced George W. King, executive secretary of the West Virginia Association of Retail Grocers, who conducted an election of officers resulting in the following selections: President, Warren Harper, Durson; first vice president, Horace Dove, Moser; second vice president, Earl Harman, Petersburg; third vice president, D. C. Harper, Mouth of Seneca; secretary and treasurer, Virgil Mathias, Petersburg. Directors elected were R. Paskel Thompson, Petersburg, chairman of the board; Dodd Fisher, Mt. Storm; Thomas Hawse, Moorefield; Quentin Harman, Moser; John Coffman, Mrs. G. W. Kuhn, W. H. Kemp, Donald Baker and Herman Sions, Moorefield; Bert Sites, Franklin, and H. P. Evans, Scherr.

King spoke on organization and the dangers threatening merchandising on account of activity of communistic groups and possible legislation in prospect that would be damaging to retailing. He pointed out the power wielded by the merchants' organization in the three valley counties composing the local organization. He pronounced the unfairness of OPA toward retailers "abominable" with "kangaroo methods" of enforcement by fining innocent merchants for only slight errors in prices.

King referred to the officials running the OPA as a "bunch of nitwits" who "need to be run out. He suggested closing the food stores until relief from the present "intolerable condition" is obtained.

Bob Doman missed a no-run, no-hit game for the second time this season when he pitched Jerry's Confectionery to a 10 to 0 triumph over Mower's Bakery yesterday in a Midget Baseball League game at Stitcher field.

Jerry's ace yielded one safety—Jim Hinkle's Texas League single to centerfield in the sixth inning—and struck out fourteen batsmen. He whiffed the side in the first and final frame of the six-inning contest.

Only 23 batsmen faced Doman and six of these got on base via walks.

The winners collected ten hits off Crabtree and Sell. Cage, Latimer and Doman shared six of the bingles. The box:

Joseph May Land Job of Handling Louis-Conn Bout

Benny Leonard, Fullam, Goldstein Mentioned as Referees

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Old Pa Knickerbocker's dress-up suit began to come apart at the seams today as an invading army of fight fans hit town amid rumors that Wednesday's heavyweight championship revival meeting would see the same referee, as well as the same two fighters who put on the last scrambling extravaganza five years ago.

Both Joe Louis and Billy Conn wound up their training today, except for some mild muscle-loosening tomorrow, and the chief talk centered around just who would be the third man in the ring at Yankee stadium Wednesday night.

The word was that Eddie Joseph, a sturdy ex-welterweight of the late 'teens with salt-and-pepper hair and a quiet way about him, would be "it" again, just as he was in '41 when Louis came from far back to flatten Billy in the thirteenth round.

Goldstein Is Mentioned

Mostly, the guessing as to the identity of the referee for this close-to-$3,000,000 production has been done by a process of elimination. Up to now, the referee has generally been expected to come from a quartet of ex-fighters, Ruby Goldstein and Joseph, an engineer, have been out in front in the race with ex-lightweight champion Benny Leonard and Frank Fullam, currently an athletic instructor, close behind.

But a story naming Leonard definitely as the referee a couple of weeks ago is expected to react against the retired and under 130-pound king's chances. While State Athletic Commission Chairman Eddie Egan admits he still has Goldstein under consideration, he points out that since Ruby was in the same army athletic set-up with Louis, it probably "would be unfair to name him."

Each of them boxed four rounds today to put on the final touches to their training. Billy worked against Sammy Schipani, a swift welterweight from Pittsburgh to sharpen up his speed, and Joe, after a six-mile road run, took on his regular sparring partner, Sweet William finished with the remark that "the easy part comes now—grind. I have to do it to meet Joe." Louis, looking for a quick night's work, promised that "Billy" won't get away from me this time.

Satisfied with Joseph

Neither fighter had any important "best" against Joseph's handling of the fight the last time.

SPORTS BRIEFS

PALEO ALTO, Calif., June 17 (AP)—A triple play and a home run by Coach Marjorie Schwartz's Stanford football coaching staff today.

There were three assistant coaching jobs to fill because:

Pete Kmetovic quit to sign with the Chicago Cardinals.

Vic Lindskog departed to serve as assistant under Coach Clark Shaughnessy at Maryland.

ST. LOUIS, June 17 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced today that their July 5 game with the Chicago Cubs has been shifted from afternoon to a night game.

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Charley Grinn took his scintilla and slugging deep into the night today while his battered Chicago Cubs rested up for nine games in the next six days.

Grimm, who has patched the National League Champions together with adhesive tape virtually since the season opened, had two new casualties. Outfielder Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey underwent an X-ray examination of an ailing side, while Catcher Clyde McCullough suffered a bruised forearm in a collision with Brooklyn's Kirby Higbe yesterday as the Dodgers nipped the Cubs, 2-0.

If McCullough is lost for the Philadelphia series starting tomorrow night, the Cubs will have only one healthy catcher, Bob Scheffing.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17 (AP)—Ossie Harris of Pittsburgh and Johnny Walker of Philadelphia will fight next Monday night instead of tonight. Promoter Herman Taylor announced the postponement was due to threatening weather and a forecast of rain.

BROOKLYN, June 17 (AP)—Brooklyn Manager Leo Durocher believes the Dodgers will be strengthened with the acquisition of Catcher Stu Hofferth from the Boston Braves although he admits he hated to part with veteran infielder Billy Herman.

The league leading Brooks made the swap with Boston just before the major league's June 15 midnight trading ban.

"We just had to have another catcher," Durocher said.

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—A football player who never wore a college uniform and a pair of collegiate sweaters were signed today by the New York Giants of the National League.

Walter Messmer of Plainfield, N. J., a 225-pound tackle, was the only non-college participant in the 1944 East-West charity game, representing March field.

Don McCafferty, formerly an Ohio State tackle, and John (Whitely) Lee, formerly a guard at Norwich university, are the other two signees.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17 (AP)—Joseph Blood, of Erie, Pa., was elected permanent 1946 captain of the university of Pennsylvania baseball team, Athletic Director H. Jamison Swartz announced tonight.

David H. Mercer of Swarthmore, Pa., was elected permanent 1946 captain of the Penn track team.

Elliott Hansell of Salem, Ohio, was elected captain of the 1947 track team.

PITTSBURGH, June 17 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today released outfielder Frank Colman outright to Newark of the International League.

Colman played 26 games this year as a pinchhitter and batted .170.

Louis-Conn Fight To Be Previewed On Air Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP) — On the eve of the climactic fight of the year, ABC is putting on another of its preview of the Louis-Conn battle Tuesday night. This one will be at 9 o'clock, with Harry Warner conducting interviews with celebrities on the possible outcome of the scrap. There will still be more previews on Wednesday before the fight.

Two summer shows make their appearance on NBC, completing the shift of the Tuesday night list from predominantly comedy to predominantly other features.

At 8:30 Fred Waring and his music take over from Fibber and Molly with the type of tonal variety for which he is noted. This series will be in addition to his morning schedule.

At 9 Herbert Marshall and the Man Called X will be back on the air for another series of mysteries. This is in the Bob Hope time.

ABC is making a couple of changes. It is moving Sammy Kaye's band from Wednesday to 7:30. Ted Malone is transferring his morning show to 8:15 p. m., the remainder of his weekly schedule to continue day-time.

Miners Ineligible For Jobless Pay, Examiner Rules

Compensation Board Examiner Rules on Benefits during Strike

Coal miners and maintenance men in Allegany and Garrett counties are not eligible for state unemployment compensation benefits if their unemployment results from a work stoppage during a labor dispute, according to a decision announced Saturday by Miss Irene Zaccaro, Baltimore, special examiner appointed by the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board.

The decision applied specifically to two miners and three maintenance men, members of District 16, United Mine Workers of America, who also holds for other similar claimants. It will become final at midnight June 22.

Clarence Lippel, attorney for the five claimants who testified at a hearing before Miss Zaccaro in the city hall auditorium April 17, said last night that a direct appeal from the decision has been made to the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board. If the board upholds the decision, an appeal may be taken to circuit court here, Lippel added.

Covers All Classifications
The attorney said the appeal has been taken by eight or ten coal workers, picked out as test cases to cover all classifications of union employees.

At the hearing April 17, the coal workers contended they were unemployed because of lack of a contract and not because of a labor dispute. Miss Zaccaro said the state board has held that a controversy concerning wages, hours or conditions of employment is a labor dispute and therefore disqualifies workers for benefits.

All checkweighmen employed in Allegany and Garrett counties before the work stoppage will be able to qualify for compensation benefits under the decision, however.

Miss Zaccaro pointed out that a checkweighman is a man selected by the miners and paid by them, who checks to see that just weight is credited to the miners. He is eligible because his wages are not one of the issues in dispute between the coal miners and coal operators, she added.

The decision was based on Section 5-d of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation law, which states that an individual shall be disqualified for benefits for any week in which the board finds that the unemployment is due to a stoppage of work which exists because of a labor dispute at his place of employment.

Cites Exceptions
Two sub-sections provide, however, that an individual may claim benefits if he is not participating in the labor dispute which caused the stoppage of work, and if he does not belong to a grade or class of workers of which, immediately before the work stoppage occurred, any of whom took part in or financed or were directly interested in the dispute.

Claimants who testified at the hearing were Arthur Metz, an employee of the Campbell Coal Company; Albert Shaffer, checkweighman for the miners at the Wolf Den Coal Corporation; Albert Males, coal miner, and John Crouse, maintenance man for the same corporation; Perry Dudley, maintenance man for the Consolidated Fuel Company; and James Nelson, maintenance man for the Johnstown Coal and Coke Company.

George D. Campbell, president of the Campbell Coal Company, also appeared at the hearing on behalf of the George's Creek and Upper Potomac Coal Association. He was represented by Dr. Lindley Sloan and George C. Doub. William M. Somerville represented the Russell Mining Company.

William Wilson Receives Discharge From U. S. Navy
William McCormick Wilson, last of the three children of Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, 654 Washington street, to be discharged from service in World War II, arrived home last Thursday after serving for thirty-two months in the United States Navy.

When separated from service at Camp Shelton, Va., he was rated as a petty officer, second class. He served as captain of a gun crew on LST 644 during initial landings at Koshigahira Shima, Hokkaido Shima, and Shima, Ie Shima and Okinawa.

Since the ending of hostilities in the Pacific, Wilson served in China, Japan and in Korea where he was stationed until shortly before his discharge.

He is entitled to wear the American Pacific-Pacific, Philippine Liberation and Victory ribbons and earned five battle stars during his varied service.

His sister, Fanny Roberts Wilson, was released in February from the WAVES where she served for twenty-six months as a pharmacist's mate, second class.

Her brother, Frank M. Wilson, Jr., was discharged from the army air forces in February after two years' service as an aviation cadet.

All of the children were home to help Dr. and Mrs. Wilson celebrate their twenty-sixth wedding anniversary at Deep Creek lake Saturday.

The local youths are cousins of Pvt. W. Milnor Oswald who was killed in Luxembourg in February, 1944.

Dr. Wilson began practicing here after serving thirty-two months overseas with the army medical corps in World War I.

Flood Control Bill Expected To Come Before House Today

The over-all billion dollar flood control bill, which includes authorization for completion of the Savage River dam and flood control for Cumberland and Ridgeley, W. Va., is on the agenda of the House of Representatives today, Rep. J. Glenn Beall advised The Cumberland News last night.

Rep. Beall, who has been working diligently to get congressional action on the two projects, said last night he was pleased that the bill is "going on the floor, and hopes it will pass the House."

The bill does not appropriate funds for the projects as part of an over-all flood control and related projects program. Funds for each individual project must be obtained through separate legislation.

The bill includes Cumberland flood control at an approximate cost of $7,420,000, and completion of the Savage River dam at an estimated cost of $1,900,000.

Police Docket 14 Traffic Charges In Court Here

Troopers Renew Efforts To Curb Mounting Rate of Accidents

Fourteen motor vehicle law violations were docketed in trial magistrates court yesterday against eleven motorists, as state police here renewed their efforts to curb reckless driving and other violations in an effort to reduce the mounting rate of traffic mishaps.

Most of the violators posted bonds which were forfeited, although two violators stood trial. James L. Brown, 220 Thomas street, arrested by State Trooper Glen D. Folk, on a charge of operating without a license, was fined $5.75 when he entered court this morning.

Frank A. Reid, 203 Greene street, drew a suspended fine of $5.75 on the same charge. He entered a plea of guilty, but since he was a recently discharged soldier, and showed that he had made application for a license, the magistrate reduced the fine to $1.00.

Liquor Law Test Case To Be Heard Week of July 14

Judge Mish Will Hear Petition for License under Old Saloon Law

The petition of Eldred A. Cromwell, operator of the Elda Inn, Bradock road, to obtain a liquor license under the old "saloon law" of 1894 will be heard in Allegany county circuit court the week of July 14, Hagerstown.

Attorneys in the case said yesterday that the hearing will be held during the week beginning July 14, on a day convenient to the counsel and parties concerned in the action, under which the constitutionality of the 1933 county liquor control law will be tested.

Application Refused
Cromwell, who has been seeking a liquor license under the 1933 act for several years, without success, submitted an application several months ago to Clerk of Court Robert Jackson for a permit under the 1894 law. The clerk, upon advice of the local judges, refused to accept the application and Cromwell then filed mandamus proceedings April 13 against the clerk.

Cromwell is represented in the litigation by P. Neale Parke, Westminister, former judge of the court of appeals, while attorneys for Jackson are William C. Walsh, former attorney general; D. Lindley Sloan, former chief judge of the court of appeals; and State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

Might Go "Dry"
Attorneys for Clerk Jackson filed an answer to Cromwell's petition May 4, denying that the present law is unconstitutional and asserting that the 1933 act repealed the "saloon law" of 1894. It was cited the county might go "dry" in event the 1933 act is declared illegal, since there would be no licenses in effect—at least until the next session of the Maryland Assembly in January when a new county liquor law could be enacted.

The hearing will be conducted by Judge Mish since Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper said they were disqualified due to the fact that they have issued licenses under the 1933 act.

Notary Takes Pledge--- For Somebody Else

Notaries public come in handy, especially if you want to take the pledge.

Somewhat taken aback, she asked what he meant, and the man explained he wanted to make out an affidavit. He dictated the statement, laid three nickels and a dime on the desk in payment, signed the paper, put it in his pocket, and walked out.

It's properly notarized, too.

Jaycees To Form New Co-operative Flying Club Here

Members To Purchase Plane under Plan of Aviation Committee

A meeting of the aviation committee of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, and prospective members of the Jaycee flying club, will be held in the Jaycee office, Liberty Trust building, at 7:30 p. m. next Monday, according to A. Derr Golladay, chairman.

Plans are underway to form a flying club within the junior association, with twenty or more members forming a corporation, purchasing a plane and learning to fly at a reduced rate.

Numerous Jaycee organizations throughout the country have formed similar clubs, and they have proved quite successful. The general membership approved the idea at a recent meeting, and Golladay has been working on it since.

In a letter mailed to all members of the organization yesterday he explained that plans have been made to purchase a side-by-side type of aircraft for instruction purposes, and that flying instruction will be provided to members at a rate much lower than that paid at commercial flying schools.

A sufficient number of members, some of whom already have pilot licenses, but most of whom are interested in learning to fly and in part ownership of a plane, have indicated their interest.

Plans for the flight club include payment by each member of a proportionate cost of the plane, insurance, and other fees, and each member will be issued stock to cover the amount of his investment in addition to obtaining flight lessons at the reduced cost.

Miners Ineligible For Jobless Pay, Examiner Rules

Compensation Board Examiner Rules on Benefits during Strike

Coal miners and maintenance men in Allegany and Garrett counties are not eligible for state unemployment compensation benefits if their unemployment results from a work stoppage during a labor dispute, according to a decision announced Saturday by Miss Irene Zaccaro, Baltimore, special examiner appointed by the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board.

The decision applied specifically to two miners and three maintenance men, members of District 16, United Mine Workers of America, but also holds for other similar claimants. It will become final at midnight June 22.

Clarence Lippel, attorney for the five claimants who testified at a hearing before Miss Zaccaro in the city hall auditorium April 17, said last night that a direct appeal from the decision has been made to the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board. If the board upholds the decision, an appeal may be taken to circuit court here, Lippel added.

The attorney said the appeal has been taken by eight or ten coal workers, picked out as test cases to cover all classifications of union employees.

At the hearing April 17, the coal workers contended they were unemployed because of lack of a contract and not because of a labor dispute. Miss Zaccaro said the state board has held that a controversy concerning wages, hours or conditions of employment is a labor dispute and therefore disqualifies workers for benefits.

All checkweighmen employed in Allegany and Garrett counties before the work stoppage will be able to qualify for compensation benefits under the decision, however.

Miss Zaccaro pointed out that a checkweighman is a man selected by the miners and paid by them, who checks to see that "just weight" is credited to the miners. He is eligible because his wages are not one of the issues in dispute between the coal miners and coal operators, she added.

The decision was based on Section 5-d of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation law, which states that an individual shall be disqualified for benefits for any week in which the board finds that his unemployment is due to a stoppage of work which exists because of a labor dispute at his place of employment.

Cites Exceptions
Two sub-sections provide, however, that an individual may claim benefits if he is not participating in, financing or directly interested in the labor dispute which caused the stoppage of work, and if he does not belong to a grade or class of workers of which, immediately before the work stoppage occurred, any of whom took part in or financed or were directly interested in the dispute.

Claimants who testified at the hearing were Arthur Metz, an employee of the Campbell Coal Company; Albert Shaffer, checkweighman for the miners at the Wolf Den Coal Corporation; Albert Males, coal miner, and John Crouse, maintenance man for the same corporation; Perry Dudley, maintenance man for the Consolidated Fuel Company; and John C. Knepper, maintenance man for the Johnstown Coal and Coke Company.

George D. Campbell, president of the Campbell Coal Company, also appeared at the hearing on behalf of the George's Creek and Upper Potomac Coal Companies, which are represented by D. Lindley Sloan and George C. Doub. William M. Somerville represented the Russell Mining Company.

Liquor Law Test Case To Be Heard Week of July 14

Judge Mish Will Hear Petition for License under Old Saloon Law

The petition of Eldred A. Cromwell, operator of the Elda Inn, Bradock road, to obtain a liquor license under the old "saloon law" of 1894 will be heard in Allegany county circuit court the week of July 14 by Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish, Hagerstown.

Attorneys in the case said yesterday that the hearing will be held during the week beginning July 14, on a day convenient to the counsel and parties concerned in the action, under which the constitutionality of the 1933 county liquor control law will be tested.

Application Refused
Cromwell, who has been seeking a liquor license under the 1933 act for several years, without success, submitted an application several months ago to Clerk of Court Robert Jackson for permit under the 1894 law. The clerk, upon advice of the local judges, refused to accept the application and Cromwell then filed mandamus proceedings April 13 against the clerk.

Cromwell is represented in the litigation by F. Neale Perke, Westminster, former judge of the court of appeals, while attorneys for Jackson are William C. Walsh, former attorney general; D. Lindley Sloan, former chief judge of the court of appeals; and State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

Attorneys for Clerk Jackson filed an answer to Cromwell's petition May 4, denying that the present law is unconstitutional and asserting that the 1933 act repealed the "saloon law" of 1894. It was cited the county might go "dry" in event the 1933 act is declared illegal, since there would be no licenses in effect—at least until the next session of the Maryland Assembly in January when a new county liquor law could be enacted.

The hearing will be conducted by Judge Mish since Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper said they were disqualified due to the fact that they have issued licenses under the 1933 act.

Notaries public come in handy, especially if you want to take the pledge.

Somewhat taken aback, she asked what he meant, and the man explained he wanted to make out an affidavit. He dictated the statement, laid three nickels and a dime on the desk in payment, signed the paper, put it in his pocket, and walked out.

Less than a dozen of some several hundred Allegany county men of voting age still in the armed services have applied for absentee ballots to cast in the June primary, according to Edward J. Ryan, attorney to the board of election supervisors.

Several hundred of the ballots have been printed and delivered to the county board but practically all of them will not be used, it was indicated.
